Introduction: The Market Revolution. The Market Revolution (1793–1909) in the United States was a drastic change in the manual-labor system originating in the South (and soon moving to the North) and later spreading to the entire world. Traditional commerce was made obsolete by improvements in transportation, communication, and industry.

The Market Revolution | Boundless US History

I believe that women can and should speak up and ask for what they want. The days of playing coy seem to be long over. But that still didn't address being a Black woman that is an activist that just wants to find love and sex all while fighting towards the revolution. A Black

Women in the Industrial Revolution - Lawaspect.com

The Market Revolution provided an opportunity for women and redefined the roles of men and women in American Society. Before the Market Revolution, women had a very limited role in society. They oversaw child raising and housekeeping. They were financially dependent on their husbands because it was simply not their place to earn their own wage. Nancy F. Cott begins by quoting Martha Ballard stating, "A woman's work is never done".
